A federal tax credit for certain qualified home energy efficient improvements is in effect for 2011. House Bill H.R. 4853, the Tax Relief, Unemployment Insurance Reauthorization and Job Creation Act of 2010 (the "2010 Act") was signed into law at the end of 2010 and amends Section 25C of the Internal Revenue Code by extending a federal tax credit for certain qualified home energy efficient improvements.

The tax credit in effect for 2011 is an extension of previous tax credits; however, there are important changes to the 2011 tax credit including changes in the qualifying criteria, lower credit amounts, and lifetime caps including all previous tax credits.

Qualifying Neuma doors must be purchased and installed on the taxpayer's primary residence in the United States from January 1, 2011 through December 31, 2011 and have a life expectancy of at least five (5) years. Listed on the following page are the patio door systems that meet the updated requirements, along with their respective U-Factor and Solar Heat Gain Coefficient ratings as determined by the National Fenestration Rating Council (NFRC).

Basted on NFRC ratings, Neuma Doors has determined that the following products may qualify for the credit allowed to homeowners under Section 25C. All of Neuma's door sizes qualify with the listed options, since our test results are based on the largest door configuration available.

This statement is to be kept with your receipts for tax purposes.

For more information about the energy tax credit, please consult a tax professional.
